* The U.S.A. is a serpen for it has shown it's cleverness in it's plot (and plan) to bring the society of man down from it's dignified place in this world. They (i.e. to say.) U.S. Government has attempted to deliberately deceive and destroy us (the rightful hairs of the earth, our hairitage) as well as, being in open rebellion against the Word of Allah.

* We are now living in a cultural, scientific and spriritual darkness.

* In the midst of all this darkness and paganism Islam is coming forth as a bright light.

* Know that I am a warner and that I warn you of a severe punishment. Allah commandes me to warn you, I can guarantee to you no good on this earth or in the Heavens unless you truly witness that there is no god but Allah and the Apostle "Muhammad" is the Messenger of Allah.

* Do not dismiss me and take this warning lightly.

* Know that the enemies of Islam are desperate and frustrated over the success (i.e. growth.) of Islam here in America and they will attempt various forms of assassinations.

They plot and they plan, and Allah too, plans, and the best of planners is Allah.

* Prophet Muhammad (via Allah) restored moral, intellectual, and spiritual freedom, dignity, and equality to women.

* Islam is designed to appeal to one's intellect so as to make the best use of one's life.

* Islam is more than a religion of faith. It is a rational religion of knowledge and logic.

* It is the fulfillment of the missions of the Prophets who led society to a faith that recognizes the existence of the one Creator, and the obligation of every creature to Him.

* The spread of Islam into Africa was not designed to establish oppressive Muslim empires, nor to destroy and swindle the of their culture and civilization, as some historians would have usto believe.

* The religion of Islam and its true adherents never enslaved Africans or any other people. In fact, the history of Islam reveals that it freed the slaves and made great African ... leaders.

* J.A. Rogers, in his book entitled, "World's Great Men of COLOR", points out that: "With the rise of Islam, the influence of Africans in the Middle East became a more noticeable feature of the religious and cultural transition in this part of the world.

* The African "ANTAR" is of the many Black heroes who emerged at the time when, Islam, was challenging the social order of the day.

He became, and remains, one of the great heroes of his religion.

* He also points out, for example, that Bilal Ibn Rabah, whom he describes as a tall, gaunt, bush-haired Black Ethiopian slave, was among the first of those to accept the faith of Islam. He (i.e. Bilal) was freed by a Muslim companion of the Prophet, Abu Bakr, and was chosen by the Prophet to be the first MUEZZIN (caller of Prayer), and the TREASURER of Islam.

* J.A. Ragers also tells about "Ibrahim Al-Makdi" whom he describes as "Islam's Greatest Songster, and Caliph of Bagdad" (799AD.) "Ibrahim, as a young man, was carefully tutored in science, poetry, dialectics, and other branches of Muslim culture."

* J.A. Ragers turns our attention to Malik Ambar (1548-1628), a brilliant Military leader and Statesman of India.

* Ragers writes in his Reference that "SLAVERY was never a barrier to an ambitious slave, Black or White, under Muslim rule."

Islam was and is the greatest and freest of all great melting pots.

* The race-purists usually shut their eyes to the following: "A pure race may be compared to standing water; a mixed race, to running water, i.e. the former soon becomes stagnant; the latter by purifying itself. Allah knows His business. He is Wiser than all in this respect.

The dark-skinned man said to one whose colour equalled the whiteness of the eye, "Why should your face boast of its clear complexion; Do you think that by so clear a tint it gains additional merit? Were a mole of my color on that face it would adorn it, but one of your colour on my cheek would adorn it, but one of your color on my cheek would disfigure it.

No one can remain in a strained full alert position for very long, unless properly relieved at the proper time. If not fatigue will begin to set in and vigils will relax.

* A government Powerful enough to save all the people is also powerful enough to enslave all the people.

* Before something can be harvested a seed must first be planted.

* A common technique used by members of the left is to use words with little-known double meanings to convey a thing to the public and another to the inside members of their own group.

* I say these things with respect, and not condemnation, to show how other people have tampered with the very fabric of most people's beliefs just to meet selfish gains.
